

The proposed Design and Building Practitioners Regulation 2020

Communication pack
NSW Fair Trading

Communication pack

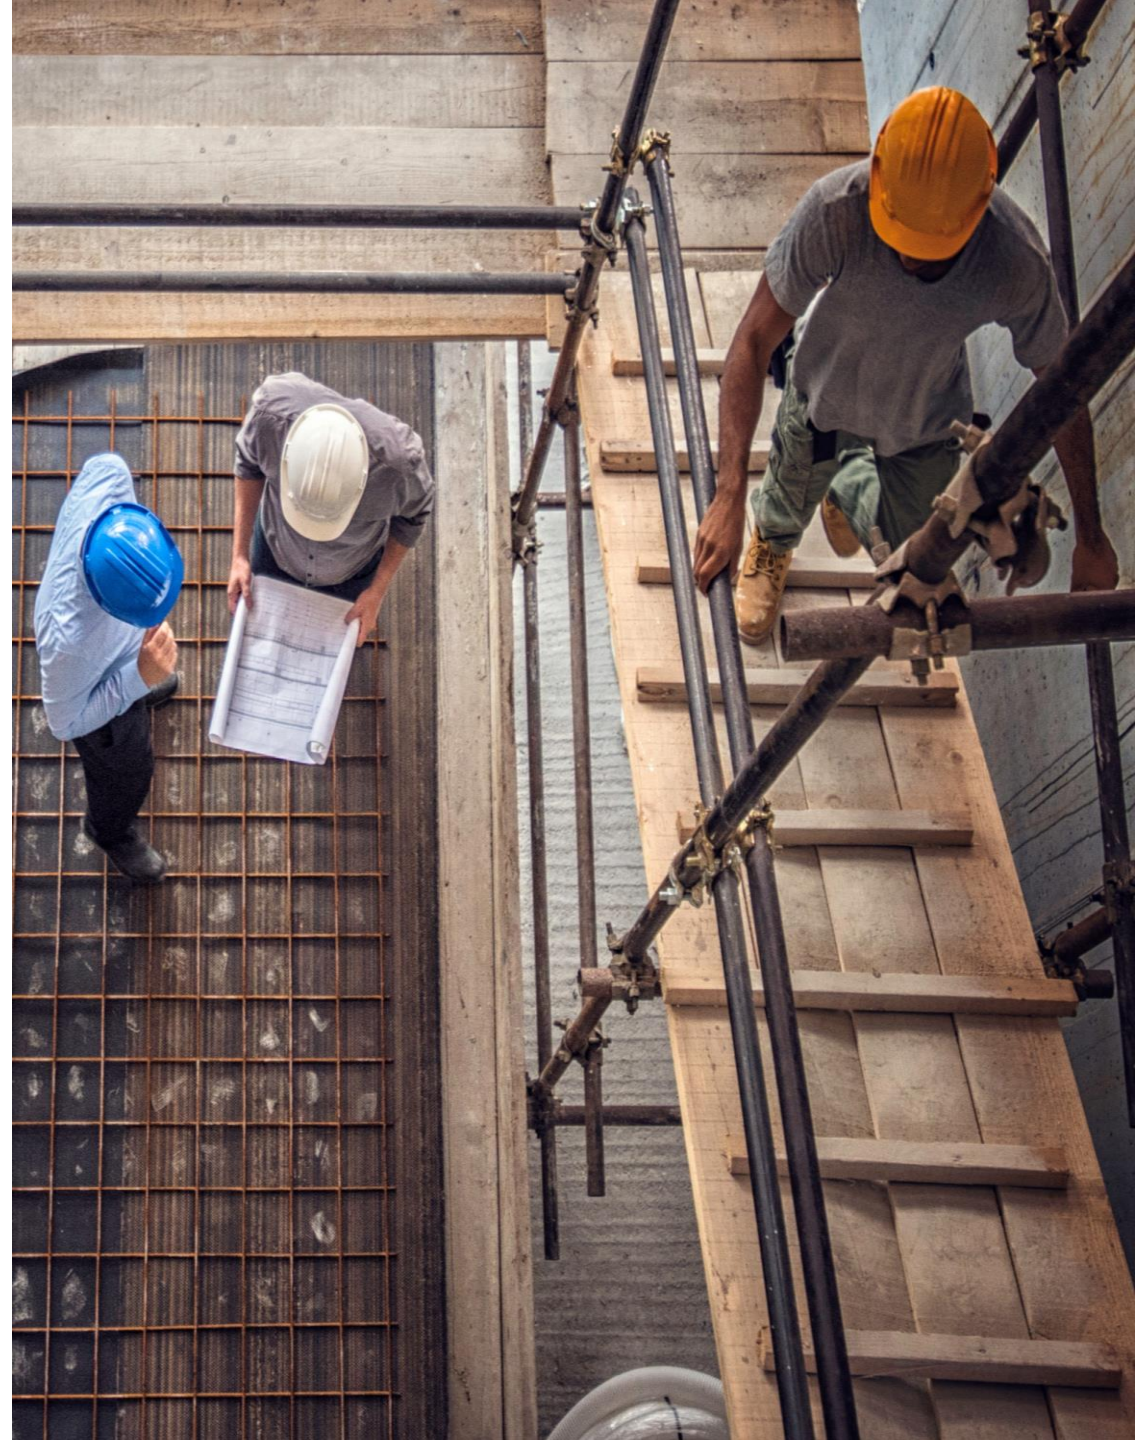

We invite your organisation and members to have your say on the proposed Design and Building Practitioners Regulation 2020.

This communication pack has been developed to help your organisation share information about the proposed Regulation and encourage everyone to share their views.

This pack contains approved content for:

- websites
- social media posts
- newsletters

For more information, please email
BCR@customerservice.nsw.gov.au

Creative materials: Dos and Don'ts

When sharing messages about the proposed Regulation with your community, it is important to ensure the messaging is appropriate to the subject and audience.

Do

- Use only the approved captions and content we have provided for social media posts and newsletter content.
- Refer to 'NSW Fair Trading'.
- Use the web address to support the consultation wherever possible.
- Only share official posts from the NSW Fair Trading Facebook, LinkedIn and Twitter pages.
- Please contact BCR@customerservice.nsw.gov.au if you have any questions.

Don't

- Amend any of the content we have provided.
- Use the supplied material for any activity other than promoting the consultation.

About the proposed Regulation

The NSW Government is seeking input on the proposed Design and Building Practitioners Regulation 2020

The Regulation has been designed to support the Design and Building Practitioners Act 2020 which aims to improve the quality and compliance of design documentation.

This will strengthen accountability across the NSW building design and construction industry.

The proposed Regulation will establish registration schemes for design and building practitioners and for professional engineers who work on Class 2 buildings and buildings with a Class 2 component. These are typically multi-storey residential apartment buildings.

Have your say by 11 January 2020 by visiting haveyoursay.nsw.gov.au

Newsletter content

Have your say on the proposed Design and Building Practitioners Regulation 2020

The NSW Government wants your feedback on the proposed Design and Building Practitioners Regulation 2020.

The proposed Regulation forms part of the reforms introduced by the NSW Government to improve quality and compliance in Class 2 buildings, particularly high-rise apartments. It aims to strengthen accountability across the building design and construction industry.

The proposed Regulation includes the following key reforms:

- registration for design practitioners, principal design practitioners, building practitioners and professional engineers;
- minimum requirements that these practitioners must meet in order to be registered;
- new obligations for lodging regulated designs and compliance declarations;
- Codes of Practice for practitioners that sets minimum professional and ethical standards;
- Continuing Professional Development requirements that apply to these practitioners to maintain registration;
- prescribed penalty notice offences.

Now is the time to have your say on the proposed Regulation by completing the survey.

Submissions close 11 January 2020, so have your say today.

Social media content

You can share the social media posts which will be published on NSW Fair Trading social media channels throughout November. Here are the links to:

- NSW Fair Trading Facebook page
- NSW Fair Trading LinkedIn page
- NSW Fair Trading Twitter account

We've provided the below captions for you to use in posts on your own social media channels:

Facebook or LinkedIn: It's your chance to help strengthen accountability across the building design and construction industry. Visit haveyoursay.nsw.gov.au today.

Twitter: Now's the time to have your say on new laws to strengthen accountability across the building design and construction industry. Find out more at haveyoursay.nsw.gov.au #FairTrading #Haveyoursay

